

AUDIENCE AND ATTENDEES

Each year, TNOYS' Annual Conference on Services to Youth and Families hosts hundreds of attendees from across Texas and beyond. Attendees include:

- Caseworkers, social workers, and counselors;
- Professionals in child welfare, juvenile justice, homelessness services, public health, child/ youth trafficking prevention, supporting transition-age youth, and much more;
- Homeless and foster care liaisons, and other school-based professionals;
- Professionals at advocacy organizations;
- Prevention and early intervention professionals
- Court liaisons and Court Appointed Special Advocates (CASAs);
- Nonprofit executives, directors, and administrators;
- Agencies such as DFPS, HHSC, TEA, local and state workforce boards, and TJJD;
- And many other YYA champions!

Guided by the value of cross-systems collaboration, the conference hosts a diverse range of agencies and organizations that work within seven youth-systems: child welfare, housing and homelessness services, justice, victim/ survivor services, health and behavioral health, education, workforce/higher education.
